Decide: keep it, or move on. Your log tells you.

Log once a week. If your skin is sensitive, start at 3 to 4 times a week and build up before going twice daily.

How to score brightness: snap a quick bare-face photo in the same light each week. 1 is dull and uneven, 5 is bright and even. Comparing photos beats trusting your memory in the mirror.

Before, Middle, After

Photos beat memory. Take three.

The 90-day debrief

What changed that I can actually see?

Did it ever sting, break me out, or dry me out?

Was it easy to keep up twice a day, or did I skip it?

My verdict: keep buying, or move on? Why?
